VALEDICTORY

"Don't worry of me, I know where I am, where I'm going and where I've been." With these words Rod McKuen expresses a confidence of his present and future life that I'm sure many of us cannot share. Do we really know where we're going or where we presently are? As seniors we all have plans for the future which may include college, marriage or jobs. However, there is no way to be sure that these choices will develop exactly as we foresee them. And with the present being the start of our travels, it is filled with indecisions and thoughts of what's to come. Perhaps of the past, present, and future, the only one we can try to have a clear understanding of is our past; where we've been.

Over the past twelve years our lives have been influenced by many things. Our changing society, our political system and even our town have affected our outlook. As friends we've had good times and bad times, ups and downs. We've learned and worked together through high school with encouragement from our teachers and family. After today we will go our seperate ways. But as we turn our thoughts toward the future it is important that we remember our past and the lessons we can learn from it. In the past we've experienced many successes and failures which have strengthened us individually. By evaluating these experiences we can have a basis on which to improve our present and build to our future. Therefore, remember what we've done, the friends we've made and where we've been. Forget the past, and the future will be a burden to you. Learn from the past, and it will carry you into the future, or in the words of Robinson Jeffers, "Lend me the stone strength of the past and I will lend you the wings of the future."

SALUTATORY

Mr. McMahon, Mr. Garrett, Mr. Little, members of the School Committee (if any are here), faculty, classmates, friends, relatives, people addicted to attending graduations and anyone who doesn't fit into any of the afore mentioned categories:

Welcome to the graduation of the class of '74.

I haven't got too many enlightening remarks to make since just about every topic has been talked to death by the speakers in the 100 classes that graduated before ours, so my attempt at oratory will be mercifully brief.

Twelve years ago this day seemed an impossibly long way off. Four years ago it was right around the corner and today, well, I can hardly believe that it has finally arrived. It seems like yesterday that we were just starting first grade. Of course, I'm sure some of my classmates will disagree, and say that it's been a long, boring lifetime so far, and that there were just too many things about high school that they wished had been different.

Well, when we leave today, we will have done more than just graduate from high school. We will have graduated into society. We will (or should) be accepted by society as mature, responsible adults, and we will then be in a position to effect changes, to improve those things about high school that we think could use a little improvement, and in fact to change society because we will be society.

Our parents are shaking their heads at this. "Let them live in the real world a little" they're saying, "and they'll smarten up. They'll lose some of that idealism. Five or six years from now, they'll look back and remember high school as having been the best four years of their lives. They won't change society. Society will change them."

I hope that doesn't happen. I hope we hold on to our ideals and dreams. In the words of a poet, whose name I don't remember,

"Hold fast to dreams, for if dreams die,
Life is a broken winged bird that cannot fly.
Hold fast to dreams for if dreams go,
Life is a barren field of snow."

I hope we will be able to change society for the better. I hope the generations after ours will be able to look up to us and will want to emulate us.

I hope we can go out into the world and get things done.

And in order to get this graduation done, so everybody can go home to their parties, I will finish up by giving this piece of advice to the classes behind ours,

"Make your high school years something you can be proud to remember." And to my classmates, I wish the best of luck in all their endeavors.

Thank you.

CLASS ESSAY

Until today our life has followed a course which has been established by educators and guardians, but our class of 1974 is now at a new stage in life. We presently stand upon the threshold of an unexplored wilderness where we will individually follow the paths which we will clear for ourselves. As we travel down our roads we can compare ourselves to leaves, which are involved in one entity, the tree of mankind.

Extending this thought we should not forget that we cannot exist alone. If a leaf falls from a tree it is not able to sustain itself and eventually perishes. Man like the leaf is dependent on his lifeline, the human race. Once an individual loses touch with humanity he ultimately ceases to properly function. It is imperative that no man is detached from this unit. For what is mankind without the man?

When a circumstance involves one individual, it affects the remaining entity. If a man is separated from the mass the loss is felt by all, because all of us are an important segement of mankind.

Being a part of mankind, we should try to honor that title. We must demand the truth for ourselves and others. Hypocracy and avarice are qualities which should be discouraged. It is essential that we notice the world which is around us, appreciating the beauty of even a blade of grass. By this means we shall be involved in mankind and not manunkind.

When there is war or peace, death or life, famine or feast, crisis or prosperity, the outcome has a bearing on the entire world. We do not sever our relations with other countries when situations occur. Whether a nation is fighting for independence, overcoming a tempest or celebrating a special event we are influenced by these incidents because we are involved with mankind.

As we start on our journey those thoughts should remain with us. John Donne using a different image expresses my views by stating:

"No man is an island . . . Every man is a piece of the Continent . . . Any mans death diminishes me because I am involved in mankind; And therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls; It tolls for thee."

CLASS HISTORY

The history af aur class really begins about 18 years ago in many different cities, but we were not afficially recognized as a class until September of 1970 when we entered Wilmingtan High School as freshmen. Whether we realized it or nat we would be knawn as the "Class of '74' ", one which was even called the warst class to enter the high school. But all freshmen have their bad days so we really didn't mind; anyway, we were having too much fun sacializing during daily bamb scares. Mary Castaldo, Lynn Murphy, Jay Garden, and Janice Gennetti were elected as our freshmen class officers.

We shaped up in aur sophamore year under the influence af the mare sophisticated upperclassmen and even managed to sponsor a dance. Joey Cunningham, Jay Garden, Laurie Carmier, and Janice Gennetti handled the executive duties of the class. We also gained Mr. Woodbury as aur class advisor during this year.

Far our busy Juniar year Gail Irwin, Jay Garden, JoAnn Langane, and Janice Gennetti decided it was time they showed everyone how to run a class. We received our class rings which distinguished us fram the "lowly" underclassmen. We also obtained respansibility cards for the first time which automatically made us "respansible" students. A big attraction of our juniar year was aur Junior Variety Show which included such hits as Tennessee, Wigwalk, The Worm, WHS Beauty Cantest, and a visit from Donny Osmond.

On May 4, 1973 we held our Junior Prom, the first semi-farmal affair that most of us had ever attended. Sharan Faley was chasen by Mr. McMahon and the band as queen of the prom. We ended up our junior year with a banquet where students were recagnized for their schalastic achievements.

By the time we reached aur seniar year, Joe Lunetta, and Wendy Wiberg decided to give it a try as President and Vice-President. They were joined by experienced JaAnn Langone and Janice Gennetti as Secretary and Treasurer. To aid them in their duties was an able Executive Baard. Many hidden talents were discavered in the fall our senior year in "THE MIRACLE WORKER", our senior class play. We held a trip into Bostan Garden to see the Celtics and the Glabetratters play.

During the winter many seniars braved the cold to jain in a toboggan party at the town park. Although it was chilly outside, the seniars were well fortified against the cald. The night was dark and bumpy, but managed ta get by with only one casualty. We shawed our athletic ability once again at a Rollerskating trip to Wal-lex where almost everyone hit the dust at least once.

In the spring of our seniar year we voted for Seniar Superlatives, Teacher of the Year, and taok many pictures for the yearbook. We also had Seniar Week which included Crazy Day and a parade fram Weinberg's to the High Schaol, Executive Day, 50's Day (which appeared to be the most popular), Sports Day, and Grub Day. And af course we had ta learn the finer points af how to graduate so we taok time off from school to practice. Finally, the day we had all waited for, arrived — May 24. For thase wha showed up, it was the last day af school far seniors. Attandance was lacking because this was also the day of our prom at Anthany's Pier 4. Despite the rain outside, the 300 people aboard the ship had an enjayable evening. They chose Terry Patenaude ta be the queen. To close our Senior year we held a Senior Banquet — the last time we wauld eat together as seniars. Many awards and presentations were given.

Prabablly the most important thing that taak place during our four years at Wilmington High Schoal was the important job of chaasing our own futures. All that we have attempted and accomplished together in the past will be small compared to what we can accomplish in the future both tagether and apart.

CLASS WILL

We, the Class af 1974, have always considered ourselves ta have been blessed with an averabundance af cultural backgraund, alang with a wealth of experience thraugh aur faur years here, accampanied with a sense af warmth, understanding, and wisdom. The list goes an and on. Realizing this fact then, we feel compelled ta share these riches by leaving same takens af our autstanding qualities ta those who can benefit by them, ar perhaps use them as an inspiratian in future years. It is with this thought in mind that we, the class af "74", acknawledge the following as our last will and testament.

One particularly generous member af our class is Howie Coombs. Hawie plans on leaving his entire brain ta Gardie Fitch. He is also quite modest abaut it, saying that his brain wan't even help Gordie. Now is that madesty? Tony Maxfield is also extremely generaus, although not quite sa modest. He'd like to bestow upon same lucky future student af WHS all of his wanderful talents, skills, and luck. Like these twa, most of the other students would like to leave items which others may find use far in arder ta help them through their high school years, whether ar nat they be students, teachers, ar members af the administration. Carlene Butler leaves her blaamers (size 40) with center half, to Jane Canlin. Kathy Jillett, because af her interest in the education of future freshmen, leaves to them all af her Newsweeks fram P.O.D. — that's Problems af Demacracy, Mr. Garrett. Another talented seniar, Carl Singeais, leaves his rope-climbing ability ta any deserving underclassmen. Les Wiberg leaves his Robert Redfard laaks ta same underclassmen wha unfartunately happens ta laak like Les. Billy Kelley, in an effort to be a helpfull person, leaves his camplete set af tests ta Al Cariglia, Kevin Kleynen, in what appears to be a message af warning, leaves all af Mr. Kelley's bad jakes ta everyane in his Calculus class next year.

Joe Cunningham would like ta help aut Ray Noel. He's leaving Ray 2½ credits far next year. Dave Andersan leaves 101 Armenian jakes to Lynn Rinker, althaugh they probably won't be so funny since Dana wan't be araund. Micki Cavanaugh wauld like to leave Ainswarth Raad ta Babby Cain. Cindy Miller would like ta leave Laura the privilege af walking dawn the schaol corridar without being pushed. John Stira leaves graduation practice to anyone wha can hack it. Of caurse it may have been tough, but practice makes perfect as you'll see next Sunday. Paul Capazzi is happy enaugh ta leave, periad. Mary Castaldo leaves her title of class flirt ta Linda Kovitch and Cindy Jepson. Karen Graves leaves to the students af future graduating classes af WHS, knowledge, love, and peace; which, of course, typifies the predaminant characteristics of our class, anyway. Elaine Lyford leaves Raam 719 af the Plaza Hatel ta her brather and Janice. "Crash" Debby Chase leaves all the dents in cars ta anyane who thinks they can park better than her. Margie Caulton leaves her sharthand notebook ta Mrs. Gershan, that is, if she can read it. Janice Spada leaves a pair af torn stockings, a broken diamand ring, and ane Anaphale Quadrimaculatas ta the drama club. Janice Bagnare leaves the patchwork pillaws in the people center ta anyane wha needs a nap. Dana Daniell leaves his unlucky name, "DOG" to same undeserving soul. Dana, I dan't think yau're gaing ta be able ta leave that name anywhere. It's yaurs thraugh life, I'm afraid. Bryan Davey leaves his image as being a big scoap to Donald O'Cannell and Bob Dorval. Bab Dayle leaves all his empty trays, milk cartans, and food ta "Ellie". Denise Ethier leaves her title as "Class Shrimp" ta next year's shrimp and she hapes the halder af this title will have as many laughs as she did. She wants yau ta knaw that there are five feet stilts in her lacker. Paul Fitch leaves his winning hat ta Rick McCully and Tim Nee. Kathy Gilligan leaves hall sentries, na-man's land between the cafe and the peaple center, and ather such frustratians ta Mr. Lynch. Jack Hallaway leaves his empty Schlitz cans ta Jack Stygles. Cheryl Lawler leaves all the hardwark that goes inta the making af a yearbaak ta same unsuspecting juniar. Ta Dan Sunnenberg gaes the task af farging passes, caurtesy af Dave Mather. Scatt Mosher leaves his pracrastinatian ta anyone who can use it and get away with it. That sounds like alot of people I know, putting off everything they do until the last minute, right Stew?

Mark O'Hearne leaves his height to little John Kaminiski. He'd also like to leave an omnibus ticket to Mrs. Mindell.

Shirley Ricci leaves Wilmington High School to the seniors who stay back. Penny Richards leaves the horrible idea of getting up the next morning to go to school to Gerry Steeves. Margy Mallett leaves a ten year subscription of Playboy to Mr. Dulong. Bob Reid leaves ups and overs and wind sprints to Gary McDonald. Cheryl Bennett leaves her typewriter to anyone who wants to take their frustrations out on something. From what I understood about the condition of many of the typewriters, many people already have done so. Bruce Bishop leaves his mess in Graphic Arts to Mr. Lentine, saying it will take him ten years to clean it up. Dave Allen leaves the wall outside of Mr. Fardy's room to Rich Stratton. Maureen Lounsbury leaves her dungarees to anybody who enjoys the comfortable way of living. Debbie Saunders leaves her beautiful car to anyone who wants it.

The seventh period people-center girls leave a machine gun to Miss McCarthy for sentry duty. Cheryl Tomasi leaves her perfect attendance record to Louise Swisher, "raisins". Carole-Anne Tyler leaves her busdriver to anyone who's never missed the bus. He'll help you break your record. Patty Vayo leaves her cruddy gymsuit to anybody who can stand it. Wendy Wiberg leaves her position as skinniest cheerleader to Ellen.

Finally, there are some items people would like to leave that seem senseless, but which probably have some personal significance. For example, Donna Mullens leaves her spot in B.O. land to Louise Swisher. Gail Irwin leaves the Swamp to McMillan, Sully, McNabb, and Arnold. Chet Hall leaves what he found to anybody that wants it. Bernadette Gallagher leaves her locker designed by Kathy Boylen to anyone who likes the name Bertha. Karen Fudge leaves her baby powder to Marie Fantasia. Barb Coursey leaves a yellow comb, "oops", mother hen to Jim O'Connors. Jim Ruggierio leaves a horse shoe to Joe Cunningham. Nancy White leaves her track sneakers to Mrs. Bean. Becky Suggs leaves road directions to Miss Stanceau. Paul Sferraza leaves Mr. McMahon his gym towel to give him something to comb his hair with. The senior science munchkins leave a bag of their tricks to Johnny Merlin. Cilla Martell leaves her four year old sneakers, that could walk away by themselves, to anyone who can stand the odor. LouAnn Rice leaves her faithful camel to Mr. Keller's used camelot. Lavinia White leaves the end of the graduation line to next year's tallest girl. Terry Patenaude leaves her nickname "Shirley" to Louise Swisher. Bob Scarano and Chet Hall jointly leave lobster shells to the maitre d' at Pier 4. Bob Stewart leaves Ben Hogan's milk to Mr. Joyce. Susan Peabody leaves a long playing album consisting of forty minutes of Sue's patented laughing. This album is made under the supervision of her directors, B.S. and P.G., who continually prompt her by saying "pen, pen".

Lastly and most importantly, however, we, the class of 1974 would like to leave our thanks to the faculty and administration of Wilmington High School. They're made us what we are today.

Seriously, though, high school can probably be considered the most important and memorable part of our lives. The reason for this is that it's the time of our lives when we change and mature from the savage freshmen we were when we entered high school to mature people, with at least the basic characteristics that will be part of our personalities throughout our entire lives.

So for being part of this most memorable time in our lives, the entire Class of '74 leaves to you, the faculty and administration of WHS, our thanks.

Paul Gracia

CLASSPROPHECY

The yeor is 1999 ond the gavernment carruptian and scandals of the 70's are still upon us. President Jae Lunetto is in the process af being impeached with 15 doys to ga in his term of office, but nabady will tell us why. President Jae, os he is affectianately called, has just created o new cobinet-level past called the Clean Water and Other Consumoble Fluid Bureau. This bureou is headed by Ed Malaney who is assisted by Tam Martin. Their first afficiol oct in office was ta create beer as the notional drink. Bab Scarana, farmerly Juan Scarini, a native from the island of Tahiti and alsa a professional wrestler, is now chief of stoff pratecting President Jae's every move. Dove Andersan has finally mode it ta be Betty Crocker Hamemaker of the Year. With this ouspicious award cames the jab af caaking and preporing the faad for the White House. Mork O'Hearne, Dave Allen, Les Wiberg, ond Potty Honlan, wha each own a Friendly's Ice Cream Stare, are naw in caurt becouse of on olledged cantributian to the naw famaus "Ice Cream Fund". Carl Singelais is naw the president's speech writer. His writing is so messy that they hove ta have Frank Shukis, a decader from the CIA, came in to translate. Frank daes an excellent jab since he hos hod mony years af experience decoding his awn handwriting. After the President makes ane af these speeches, the natian is usually upset by the bad news, sa Sue Peabody comes on and loughs nan-stap far an hour to cheer the peaple up. The President has ta be cheered up too, after he makes his speech. This job is dane by the warld renawn Las Vegos comedian Paul Sferazzo who got this jab thraugh his manager Bryan Davey. Dean Devlin is naw the officiol wine and beer taster for the White Hause with Kevin Kleynan as the afficial faod tester, the only problem being that when they get thraugh tosting the beer, wine, and faad there's nane left. Mary Castolda is the wife af same abscure man, o farmer Attarney Generol. She's always on the phone and never stops talking. Meryl Clark, Jeon Navak, Cathy Hawlett, Lynn Murphy, and Donno Mullens are leading the White Hause Pep Squad which cansists af the members af the Grond Old Opra in Nashville where the President recently played, ond the President's dog, King Timahee, whase persanal physicion is Patty Vaye.

Cheryl Lawler is the President's personol secretory whose slight absent-mindedness resulted in an 18½-minute gap in a very important tape recording. Paul Fitch, whose fartune wos goined through his chain af bunny clubs in campetitian with Hugh Hefner, is dawn in Casta Rica hiding from federol outharities due to his illegol $200,000 campoign cantributian. Kathi Gilligan is naw the head af the House Judiciary cammittee in charge af the impeachment. As chairwaman af this cammittee, althaugh she may became very bared listening to the presidential tapes, she has certainly acquired a new list af four-letter words. Bruce Bishap is currently the head af the Air Farce, Dana Daniell the head af the Novy, and Johnny Horrison is the head of the Army, their anly duty is ta cantral their new secret weapon . . . Joey Cunningham dressed up os Donny Osmand. You see, they send Jaey aut an ta the battle field in the Mid-East and all the female soldiers ga wild aver him and there's no more war, it's very simple. This eases the burden af Margie Coultan wha is cauntry-hopping trying to create warld peoce. Dionne Pintrich, Sue Lowry, Lisa Bronzetti, and Wendy Wiberg ore back down in Bermuda as secret agents studying the male natives on that island. Janice Spada, Margoret Forrest, Elaine Lyfard, Poul Gracio, Tany Maxfield, Richord Grinder, Wonda Dahl, Borbara Caursey, and Corale-Ann Tyler have oll just wan Tany Awards far their special White Hause performance of the new hit play Helen Keller Sees Again, castumes by Koren Possmare and JaAnne MacQuarrie and directed ond produced by Lavinia White. Jim Buck, Wade Halbraak, and Jahn Stira combine ta make up the White Hause Band. Under the directian af bondleader, Steve Bussell, they play the new notional anthem, the Budweiser Sang.

Jae Brazell is the directar af Health, Education, and Welfare. What kind of health, what kind of educatian, and whase welfare he daesn't tell us. As directar, Joe hos taken care af some af his ald friends back at Wilmingtan High Schaal. He has appointed Bab Dayle ta the post af assistont principal at WHS, his sale duty being ta direct traffic in the parking lot in the morning. By the way, the parking lat is guarded by Rick Virtus for abvious reasons. Suson Hasmer, Debbie DeAngelais, ond Maureen Lounsbury hove taken up the pasitions of nurses in the Wilmingtan School System. Their duties cansist of stabbing paar, defenseless seniors with gigantic needles. As a last ditch effort to help some of his former classmates along, Joe has replaced some of the more senior members of the teaching staff with people from the class of '74. Judy LeFaveur has replaced Miss Bocchino, Wes Ryan — Mr. Maggie, Cliff Downs — Mr. Joyce, Larry Foster — Mr. Fessenden, Kenny Kumm — Mr. DiSarcina, Brian Phillips — Mr. Lynch, Dave Spring — Coach Aylward, and Gary Kelloway — Dr. Callahan. These members of the class of '74 perform the sole duty that these teachers performed in their years of service to old WHS, they had the courage to show up. And in one final effort to save WHS from complete ruin, Joe brought Ellie, the caf lady, out of retirement. Dianne Spear, Bob Frengillo, and Nancy White, all managers of Dunking Doughnut shops have merged with Pewter Pot managers Cheryl Bennett and Janice Bognore to form a new establishment known as The Dunking Pot, where corrupt politicians go to drown their sorrows. Howie Coombs, April Anderson, Jim Ruggiero, and Harold Walley, all graduates of Mr. Beaton's economics class, are now the leading economists in the country, overseeing where every penny is spent, making sure there is economy in government, but of course they pay themselves $150,000 a year.

In Washington, there has been a flood of new athletic teams coming into this city. A new football team, coached by Gail Irwin with players such as Jack Holloway, Doug Stewart, Tom Woods, Rick Howlett, and Ray Noel; a soccer team coached by Jay Garden with Mark Kalkanajian, Timmy Swisher, Barry Aruda, Roy Meyer, and Ronny Lawrenceson. A protennis team with player-coach Kathy Pavelcak, Ann-Marie Breakey, Mike Mahoney, John Arvanitis, Mary Jane Cunningham, Tommy Webber, and Beth Bradford. And a baseball team coached by Bob Cheney with MaryAnn Langone, Cheryl Reid, and Carlene Butler. The reason why all of these teams have come to Washington is because they found the necessary playing grounds on the White House Lawn, you see the President got into a little problem with the IRS and he had to rent out the White House lawn in order to raise some money fast.

On the local level, Bob Butters is now a state representative who doubled as a used car salesman, selling used Plymouths. Becky Suggs and Karen Fudge are in charge of keeping Bobby's smile nice and bright, because you know about politicians and you know about used car salesmen, so when you mix the two together you're in trouble. Jake Tighe is now the chief law enforcement officer in the U.S., his first duty was to change the streaking laws. There is now a national lottery directed by Debbie Grant and Valerie Hall. Wayne Kirby and Ed Adams are against this lottery since they believe it cheats the people out of their hard earned money. They have been trying to figure out the probability of winning, with their great training from Mr. Woodbury's probability class, but the only thing that they have found out is that the probability of finding the probability is very low. Steve Whalen is a former vice president, formerly governor of Maryland, who has resigned in favor of playing golf. The way that they treated political enemies before the Watergate Affair was to have the v.p. play golf with them, and everybody knows about the v.p.'s golf playing ability. Now all they do to political enemies is to have the President support them. The person who took over after this v.p. resigned was Scott Mosher, the only problem here was that he takes is title seriously, we now have a president in charge of vice. Bernie Gallagher, Kathy Boylen, Paul Gappezzi, Janice Gennetti, Terry Patenaude, Denise Ethier, Gail Gustafeson, Billy Kelley, and Laurie Justice are the nine justices of the Supreme Court. They have just ruled in favor of allowing Wilmington High School to implement capital punishment to be used on the little kiddies who fail to show the proper identification when stopped in the hallway.

So in the year 1999 many of the members of the class of 1974 have achieved various positions of distinction. They have in this prophecy, as I'm sure they will in their actual lives, set goals for themselves and achieve these goals. One of our classmates said this very well: "We can Soar to the goals we set for ourselves, for the sky is our limit and the doors of time have just now opened."

Thank you.
